

Dreamin Gets Even

Dreaming in Color is a TWH with lots of personality. She loves people and attention..One day I was out in the pasture picking up poop, after all that is my favorite pastime (or at least it seems this way). I was using my sled to haul the poop away. Well, I think the horses just might have been a little board. Dreamin' had her head down beside my sled when I through a fresh pile of poop into the sled. I of course didn't realize she had moved over closer to the sled so the poop when all over the side of her face!!!!. I, of course laughed. I hadn't meant it to land on her jaw but it was funny!!! It stuck to some to her long winter hair. Dreaming never said a word. She just casually walked over to me and wiped her jaw right off!!!!. I had thrown the stuff on her, so I was the cleaning post to get it back off again!!!. So I had to laugh some more.

I continue my cleaning. Dreaming kind of wander off, or so I though. Not getting too far but staying out of the way of the flying poop. THEN without warning, Dreamin' grasped me by my belt hook on the back of my pants and picked me up!!!. She lifted me all the way off the ground and gave me a little shake!!! I know now what its like for a little down who gets picked up and possible scolded. I yelled at Dreaming and she drop me and wondered off as if to say, So There!!! Next time watch what you are doing!!!!

Dreamin', What do you have planned next?